Red Cross Blood Bank May 28

May 28th at The American Legion Hall from Noon till 6 p.m.!

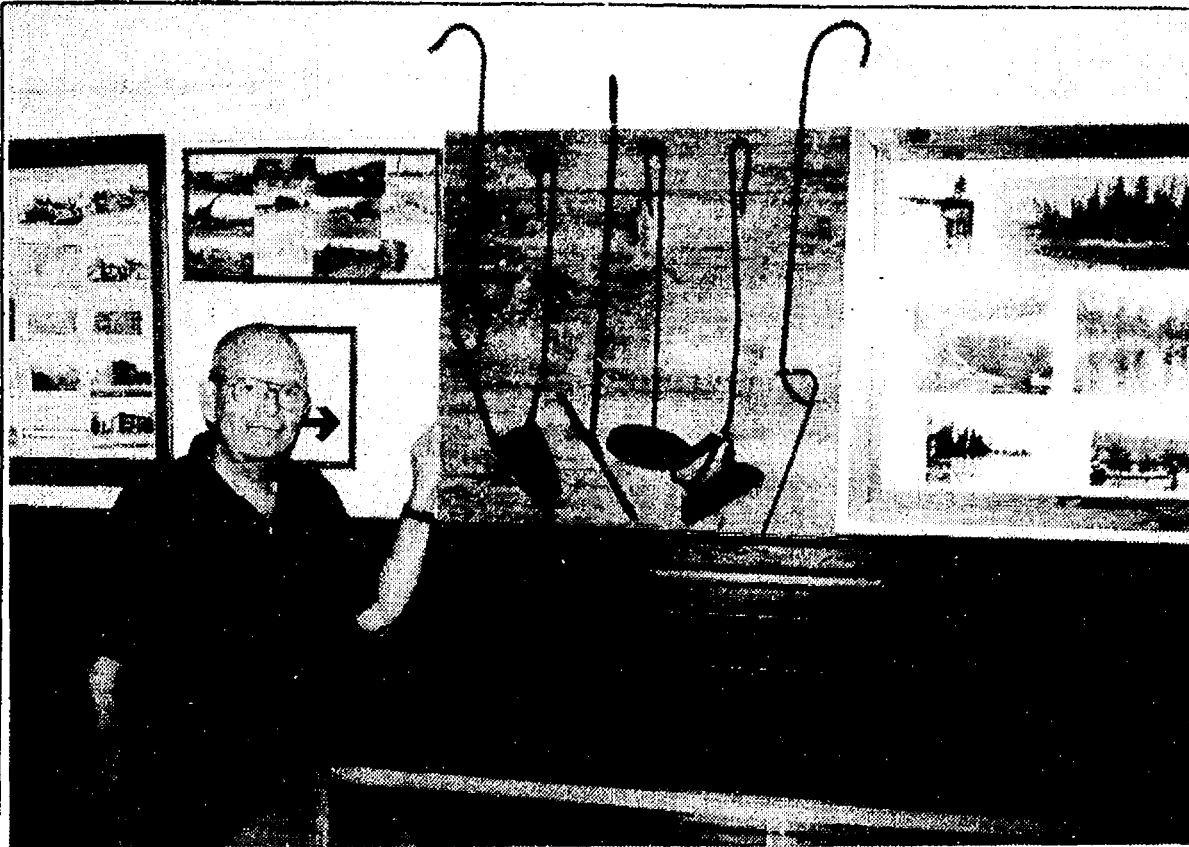

Mark your calendars now, you wonderful Crawford County Blood Donors, and plan to come and once again give a pint of your precious life saving Blood! The gift that only you can make!

As always, wonderful, life saving blood, like yours, is in short supply. Fear of AIDS and other semi-hysterical unsubstantiated publicity has reduced the normal number of Blood Donors in most metropolitan areas, causing shortages.

But our Donors know there is no way a person can contract AIDS by giving blood!

COUNTY'S HERITAGE — The heritage of Crawford County is on display in the new historical museum located in the Grayling railroad depot. Museum director Robert Ruddy shows a collection of tools from Grayling's past.

Fish Hatchery, Museum Draw More Than 1,000

Special ribbon-cutting ceremonies for the new Crawford County Historical Society and the Grayling Fish Hatchery will be held Friday.

At 9:30 a.m. the public is invited for refreshments at the historical museum housed in the 1872 railroad depot. The ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at 10 a.m.

A charter bus from Le Coache Tours will be available to take people to the fish hatchery from the historical museum for the next ribbon-cutting ceremony scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Refreshments will be served for the ribbon-cutting at the Fish Hatchery and door prizes will be offered at both places.

The museum and hatchery both opened last Saturday. The hatchery drew close to 1,000 visitors despite rain.

At the museum, about 50 persons visited the historic depot on the opening day.

Both places are expecting many more visitors Memorial weekend.

The fish hatchery is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. seven days a week.

The museum is open 10 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday and Sunday 1 to 4 p.m.

Groups interested in visiting either place may call the hatchery at 348-7386 or museum at 348-4461.

Admission to the museum is $1 and admission to the hatchery is free.

$50,000 In Repairs Slated For Runways At Grayling Airport

The Grayling Airport will receive $50,000 to replace deteriorated concrete slabs on runways.

The Michigan Aeronautics Commissions has allocated $25,000 toward the repair project and the Department of Military Affairs will match the $25,000 and supply all the labor.

The $50,000 will buy concrete to replace about 3,000 cubic yards of runway.

Major Joe Meredith, at the Grayling Army Airfield, said it's possible the project could start as early as six weeks. He said an Air Force engineering team from Oscoda will be looking at the runways Thursday.

The Grayling airport serves both civilians and the military. David Frederick, manager of the Grayling McNamara Airport, said the project is an excellent, positive sign of co-operation between the military and community.

Frederick said the $50,000 project will not solve the entire problem of concrete deterioration on the runways, however.

"There are about 300 sections that are badly shot right now and need to be taken up. Each section costs about $500 to replace so that's about $150,000 worth of work," he said. "And in a year or two, more sections are going to reach the point where they have to be replaced."

"This $50,000 is just the first step but it gives us great reason for hope. It looks like we might have a funding formula that makes everyone happy."

The Department of Military Affairs will supply the labor for the project by having military engineering teams work on the project for real-life training exercises.

During the repair work, one of the airport's two main runways will always remain open.

Building Moved 3rd Time, Will Become Hall of Fame

Monday must be moving day for the Crawford County Historical Society.

For the second time in two weeks, a heavy object weighing more than 12 tons was moved to the Historical Society's museum site.

On May 12, a 40,000-pound caboose was moved to the east side of the railroad depot by the Michigan National Guard. On May 19, a 24,000-pound building was moved to the north side of the railroad depot by a crew from Jack Millikin, Inc.

It was the third time the building has been moved. It first served as a schoolhouse in the township and then was moved next to the present middle school where it was used as the Grayling Township Hall. It next was moved to the city park where it served as the county historical museum.

This was the second time the Jack Millikin crew moved the building. They moved it to the city park site from the middle school location.

The move from the city park to the railroad depot turned out to be more difficult.

The building was moved on a route along the railroad tracks to avoid moving a lot of overhead wires and running into other problems on a route taken the other way through town.

But soft sands and the railroad tracks made the going tough from the city park all the way to Michigan Avenue. The four-man crew of Jack Millikin, Bill Millikin, Rick Millikin, and Mary Forbes had to plank the entire way from the park to Michigan Avenue for one set of wheels on the flat-bed truck used to carry the building.

BIG Trout Planted in Kids Section

Two hundred to three hundred trout will be planted this week in the Kids Section to help make Memorial Day weekend special for some young fishermen.

The trout range from 8 inches to 24 inches—large enough to make some eyes open wide. The Kids Section is located on the East Branch from the fish hatchery downstream to the main stream.

The Kids Section is open to youngsters 16 and younger. The fish were donated by the Grayling Booster Club and planted by the Fish Hatchery.

From Our Corner...

The so-called Monday Holiday bill confuses the ol' fella...possibly because of our age, or, possibly we dislike playing games with holidays that were set many years ago to honor events in our past...

It's a good thing they print holidays in red on the calendar...otherwise this column would have waited until next week...to recognize Memorial Day, May 30th...

I guess this year is one that really perplexes the ol' fella...the traditional Memorial Day, May 30th happens to arrive on a Friday...are we waiting for that...no, we're jumping ahead to May 26th because it so happens to fall on a Monday...to the workers of our land that means a three day weekend...

Our question? Why did they not hold true to the traditional May 30th holiday...I may be crazy, but, I think that with May 30th falling on a Friday, that also adds up to a three day weekend...

Maybe we are old fashioned but, dang it all why play games with holidays that were set, for a reason a long time ago to honor those who gave their life for our country...not just to give workers a three-day weekend...

Why the ol' fella is confused is the next holiday that our country will celebrate...

Without looking at the calendar, would you believe that the 4th of July just happens to fall on a Friday...

To protect our thinking I checked to see when our great nation would celebrate the day of Independence...our readers can rest assured, we will not be celebrating the 4th on the 7th because it is Monday...

Now if I was a dedicated worker that wanted Monday off instead of Friday, only because Monday is better to prolong the start of a work week then ending with Friday, I would challenge the printers who put those red numeral days on the calendar for the 4th...

It's not fair to celebrate Memorial Day on Monday the 26th, and not celebrate the 4th of July on the 7th, because that's on Monday...

To get off from our gripes but, still stay with the military, because that has entered into just about all of our holidays we will mention a couple things we learned just last week...

Wednesday evening we attended a function at the Officers' Club along with a multitude of local citizens...guests of Colonel Schmidt, Camp Grayling Commander...the social hour was very nice, the steaks also...but, then the program really brought things back to reality with a film shown of the new weapons that are stored in case there is a conflict of war...

We can't speak for the rest in attendance but, for the ol' fella, it is sort of scary, to see the types of weapons in arsenal the U.S. military has at its command...

It reminded us of when as a youngster, we would walk in the middle of the road going home after watching a Dracula show at the cinema...

Now for a little local color concerning the military, we found our self cornered by two Korean war veterans while having our after steak drink of coffee...

Must have been the film that riled Tike Golnick, Command Sergeant Major at Camp Grayling, and Larry, alias the Greek, Leprechaun, McNamara...while sipping my coffee, they both said in unison...WE are the only ones you served in this country's military in a war and we don't have any monument honoring our fellow men who died serving their country...

We couldn't argue the point...I guess we have been blinded, we thought WW II was the big war...we were informed by the two that over 54,000 men died in Korea...

In our opinion, that certainly deserves some sort of recognition as well as WW I, WW II, and newly recognized Vietnam veterans' monuments...

Time to bid T.J., Stefany and Amber good-night, and to all, have a sane, safe Memorial Day designated Holiday...

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

GOSPEL TRUTH AND CONFLICT

Is all religious gospel good? Is it wrong to say another religion is wrong? Does it really matter what one preaches and another believes? Who is to be the judge?

A foreign missionary gave the following report of religious opposition to his Bible based ministry. A pamphlet was printed in large numbers and distributed throughout the city, condemning his ministry. This was part of its message: "No priest, no holy mass or communion, No Jesus in the tabernacle, no crucifix, no blessed virgin, no mother, no rosary, no saints and no statues of them, no baptism for your babies, no visible forgiveness for sinners, no last sacraments for your dying, no prayers for your beloved dead, no purgatory to ready for Heaven, no blessing in life or in death, not a candle, flower or bell, no head, no rule, no catechism - only a Bible and a songbook - such religion is not, cannot be the religion of Christ."

After receiving and reading one of these pamphlets, the missionary looked up with tears in his eyes and said, "Praise the Lord! We're guilty as accused - and what a wonderful accusation it is! Only a Bible and a songbook - such religion is not, cannot be the religion of Christ. Only preaching and singing. None of the trappings of man's religion. And God blesses!"

At stake is not the success of one religion over another. At stake is the eternal salvation of precious souls for all eternity. We certainly respect the right of a priest to challenge the simple message of salvation in the Bible. We likewise expect the same respect when we expose what we honestly believe to be superstition and tradition which is creating anxiety, uncertainty, and religious confusion. Most of all, it is blinding precious souls from the simple gospel of salvation found in the Bible. It is sending precious souls into eternity without assurance and hope.

Eternal salvation is not through identification with a church, a creed, a family, a country, or any other human organization or effort. Salvation is through faith alone in the person, work and word of Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. "He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life..." (1 John 5:12, 13). "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." (John 1:12). "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life." (John 6:47).

Laundry Tips

Substitute warm water for hot water when doing the laundry if you pretreat soiled areas, such as collars, cuffs and garment underarms.

Use short drying times when using your clothes dryer. Overdrying wastes energy and causes static and wrinkling.

Hot water is best for removing oily and greasy soil.

Anne Marie Church Holds Recital

Anne Marie Church, former Grayling resident, presented her first public Bergen County recital at Anderson Auditorium, Unitarian Hall in Ridgewood, New Jersey, on Saturday evening, April 12, at 8 p.m.

Anne Marie, a soprano, will be remembered first in Grayling's first musical, "Brigadoon" and since that time she has gone on to study music while also pursuing a career in other fields. She holds a degree in speech and drama and music and had her Carnegie Hall debut with Richard Westenberg and the Collegiate Chorale. She is currently in advanced studies at the Juilliard School of Music and is studying privately with Ridgewood soprano Diane Durand and with opera coach Daniel Beckwith of New York City.

In this, her most recent concert, she was accompanied by David Maiullo at the piano. There was a dedication to her father, the late Jack A. Church. The program included pieces by Bononcini, Caldara, Pergolesi, Richard Strauss, Charles Tomlinson Griffes, Hageman and Milhaud. Also represented in the evening's selections were Pizzetti, Barber and Vaughan-Williams. The evening's program was the result of a series of "parlor recitals" held in her home which outgrew her home and required moving to a public program.

Bergen county audiences have seen her recently in Daum, Daum, and Hyatt's musical "The Tie That Binds," a part of the Bergen Community College Playwright's Workshop series. In the planning stage is a late fall program featuring American composers, among others. Ms. Church will also be featured in an October Handel festival.

Anne Marie is the daughter of Mrs. Ernestine Palmer and the late Jack Church, and now resides in Ridgewood, New Jersey, with her husband, Tom Hendrickson.

Whopper Herb Struck Out

by Richard Milliman

TIME ONCE MORE for one of our infrequent strolls — barefoot through the potpourri...

HERB FLUNKS FINAL EXAM

THE BURGER KING hamburger chain sank $40 million into its recent advertising campaign centered on a mythical chap named Herb who was billed as the only person in the country who hadn't tasted one of its hamburgers.

There followed a nationwide search for "Herb"... Every time anyone spotted "Herb" at a Burger King, a big prize was awarded. The idea, I guess, is that people all over the country would hang around Burger Kings looking for "Herb" and buying hamburgers at the same time.

Well, Herb drew a lot of attention. He grabbed headlines around the country. He inspired newspaper stories and columns (much like this one). He was interviewed on television. He drew hundreds of letters to Burger King headquarters. Other advertisers copied the campaign and piggybacked on Herb's notoriety, with such claims as "Herb buys his gas here," and "Herb eats donuts at our shop," and so on.

PERSONALLY, I always thought it was a dumb campaign. After all, who would want to emulate a nerd-like character such as "Herb"? But then, when I saw all the copycats, and all the news stories, and all the free television hype, I thought maybe I was wrong.

Herb flunked the final test, however. He didn't sell hamburgers. During the height of the Herb campaign, Burger King's average unit sales rose only one percent over the previous year.

"We're certainly disappointed," said a Burger King official. "But who knows how we would have done without Herb?"

So goodbye to Herb. Don't expect to see him around again. And good riddance, in my opinion.

JOAN STRIKES OUT, TOO

ANOTHER PUBLIC FIGURE — jaunty Joan Rivers from Television Land — also has struck out, so to speak. Ms. Rivers is striking out on her own for a new late-night television interview show to tackle head-on late-night TV's long-standing king, Johnny Carson.

Ms. Rivers next fall will appear on the Fox Broadcasting Co., of which you probably have never heard. That's because it's a fledgling organization, trying to line up independent stations to tackle the big networks.

Fox owns TV stations in Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, Washington, Dallas and Houston, and reaches 22 percent of the country. Joan Rivers' show is aimed to improve that percentage.

OF COURSE, Joan Rivers reached her greatest notoriety (I shun use of the word "fame") as substitute host for Mr. Carson. Going into direct competition is sort of biting the hand that has nurtured her. But that's show biz, apparently. You can expect her to exaggerate her "feud" with Carson...because that's show biz, too.

Joan Rivers has never been my favorite personality. She seems obsessed with embarrassing the people she interviews, invariably delving into inane sexual matters. Often she embarrasses me, too.

For me, there are two advantages to Joan Rivers' new career:

First, she won't be on the late-night talk show that can reach my personal television set; and, second, history is littered with unsuccessful challengers to Johnny Carson, and Joan Rivers probably will be another one.

THOUGHTS AT CLOSING

CLOSING OUR BAREFOOT stroll, ponder some of these varied comments:

"Speak only when you can improve on silence," Anonymous

"Revolutions, like romances, rarely work when they're arranged by outsiders," Sen. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, discussing Central America

"Show me a man who can eat, drink and be merry, and I'll show you a fat, grinning drunk," Miami Herald

"The younger generation really hasn't changed much. It still grows up, leaves home, gets married, has children. The only difference is that today it doesn't always do it in that order," B. Bader, in the Wall Street Journal

Township Assn. Annual Spring Meeting at Holiday

Lansing - Liability insurance, elections, issues, and interest on tax collections are among the featured topics of the Michigan Townships Association's (MTA) annual Spring District meeting, to be held on Friday, May 23, at Holiday Inn in Grayling. More than one hundred township officials from Antrim, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Crawford and Roscommon Counties are expected to attend the all-day issue and education-oriented program.

During the morning session, MTA's Executive Director John M. La Rose will update officials on legislation and state issues such as commercial forestry, subdivision control reforms, and property tax assessment appeals. Other staff members will report on recent court decisions and attorney general opinions affecting townships. A federal issue update on subjects such as revenue sharing and medicare withholding requirements is also on the morning agenda.

After lunch, participants will be able to choose from among four workshops scheduled. An elections workshop is planned for township clerks and the State Assessors Board is holding an assessors renewal course. MTA Education Officer Mary F. Douglass will conduct a class on summer tax collections and negotiation strategies, and Geoffrey V. Moffat, private planning consultant, will discuss planning and effective zoning decisions.

The morning program begins at 9:00 a.m. and concurrent workshops start at 1:00 p.m. The cost of the program, which includes lunch and materials, is $30.00 at the door.

The MTA, based in Lansing Charter Township, provides lobbying and educational services to more than 99 percent of Michigan's 1,242 townships and 6,500 elected officials. District meetings are conducted annually across the state, with spring meetings held in the northern portions of Michigan.

"Both railroads have searched diligently, but so far securing any replacement liability coverage by the Saturday deadline is very doubtful," Robert Mitchell, MDOT chief deputy director said.

"The department also has searched for alternative insurance without success," he added.

Brook said most shipping companies could withstand cessation of service for up to a week, without suffering major difficulties. She said some shippers may resort to moving commodities by highway if the problem continues for a longer period.

"At this time, the most critical problem is making sure that farmers receive their shipments of grain and fertilizer," Brook said.

STUDIES ON VACATION — Recently Julie Gingerick had a vacation in Florida. Her homework during that time was to bring back a report to be shared by Mr. Hayes and the rest of the students of his fourth grade class. Here you see Mr. Hayes examining the written part of her report which included things as the mileage of each state traveled, the types of plants observed and even her personal points of interest, such as her little brother losing his tooth the day after Easter. The other part of her report was an oral presentation of her trip to Disney World with questions from her classmates and Mr. Hayes. A special thank you is extended to Julie's parents, Louie and Mary Jo Gingerick for their help in Julie's report. Great parents make great kids.

Kirtland C.C. Initiates Outstanding Alumni Award

At their April, 1986, meeting, the Kirtland Community College Board of Trustees voted to initiate an annual Kirtland Community College Outstanding Alumni Award. The Board, Administration and staff at Kirtland are pleased at the initiation of this award, and to have Richard Coulter, Roscommon, as its first recipient.

Coulter graduated at the college's first annual commencement with the Class of 1970. He received an Associate in Arts degree, then went on to Central Michigan University to earn a B.S. degree in 1973 and a Master's degree in 1981. He is currently enrolled in an Educational Specialist degree program at CMU, and plans on obtaining a second Master's degree.

He graduated from Gerrish Higgins High School in 1963. He spent the next five years working for a major corporation as a tool and die maker before moving to a local firm in Roscommon as a tool and die foreman. While working, he became a student at Kirtland, thus combining work with attending classes. In addition, his spouse, Veronica, graduated from Kirtland with the Class of 1984, and she has recently received her bachelor's degree in secondary education from CMU.

Coulter's responsibilities as counselor/coordinator with the COOR Intermediate School District include: co-op coordinator for Mio and Fairview High Schools doing job development and student placement; counselor in regions 7B and 9 for the Job Training Partnership Act; coordinator and counselor in four counties for the Michigan Youth Corps; supervisor of classroom aides as a Special Needs Coordinator; and counselor and coordinator for all vocational education programs for COOR area schools and in that capacity, also serves as COOR liaison with Kirtland Community College, where he spends his Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

He received a framed certificate at Kirtland's commencement ceremonies on May 2nd.

Resource Review

by Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

Effective July 1, 1986, fines and restitution will increase for those persons convicted of violating the Michigan Sport Fishing Law (Act 165, P.A. 1929).

On that date, the maximum fine will increase from $250.00 to $500.00 for most violations. Anyone convicted of using certain substances or methods (explosives, poison, etc.) or of buying or selling game fish will face a fine of from $250.00 to $1,000.00. A repeat offender will face a maximum fine of $1,000.00. Court costs will be assessed in addition to any fine.

Restitution or liquidated damages will double for game fish. $10.00 per pound, or $10.00 per fish under one pound, will be charged for fish taken during closed season, for over limits, for buying or selling fish or for fish taken with an unlawful device. Restitution on non-game species was increased to $5.00 per pound or fraction of a pound for each fish taken or possessed.

A maximum of 90 days in the county jail may also be meted out by the court.

Women's Group Meet May 16-18

Women from across the State of Michigan who are members of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women, Inc. will be attending the annual State Convention at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn, Michigan.

The theme of this year's convention will be "Momentum For Change". The convention will feature keynote speaker, Arlene Violet who is the only woman Attorney General in the United States today, and has appeared on the national program, "60 Minutes".

Also featured at the workshop sessions will be V. Paul Donnelly, Attorney, who is a leading national expert on employee rights. He testified in 1982 before a U.S. House of Representatives Select Committee probing job discrimination and Marsha Kneessi, an authority figure in the day care field. She is currently developing her own national day care research, as well as investigating child abuse and the inflating prices of day care insurance. Both of these speakers have appeared on programs such as the Today Show and Good Morning America and have been quoted locally in interviews with radio and newspaper media.

The Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women, Inc. will also recognize the State Employer of the Year who will receive an award at the Convention. The award represents the employer's exhibiting sensitivity to the needs of female employees, providing opportunities for advancement and additional training; equal treatment in pension and insurance plans; and providing training grants to meet the needs for the Future of Women in the Workplace.

The Michigan Federation BPW is a member of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women (BPW/USA) which represents 150,000 working women. The National Federation, founded in 1917 is the oldest Federation for working women in the country today and promotes the full participation, equity and economic self-sufficiency for America's working women.

Elsie Jansen and Bernita Sieger attended from the Grayling BPW.

Memorial Day Traffic To Break All Records

If the weather is good, holiday driving in Michigan over the Memorial Day weekend will be the heaviest on record, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) predicts.

Department traffic technicians estimate motorists will log 780 million miles over the four-day holiday weekend, from noon Friday, May 23, to noon Tuesday, May 27. That's four percent more than the previous record of 750 million miles driven in Michigan over the 1985 Memorial Day weekend.

Forecasts are made using travel trends established from traffic count data and general economic conditions.

To better prepare the state highway system for holiday travel, State Transportation Director James P. Pitz has ordered a suspension of all highway construction activity beginning at 3 p.m. Friday (May 23) until normal work starting hours on Tuesday (May 27).

Only emergency work will be permitted on state highways and freeways over the holiday weekend.

Pitz also has ordered all state traffic and safety engineers to conduct special inspections of all construction areas to assure that detour and slowdown lighting and signing are in place and operating. All earthmoving equipment and other heavy construction vehicles are banned from state highways for the weekend.

"Every precaution will be taken to eliminate hazards and minimize inconvenience to motorists due to road and bridge construction activities," Pitz said.

As added safety measures, Pitz urged all motorists to buckle their safety belts and observe the 45-mile-per-hour speed limit through construction zones.

SUPER INSULATION COMES OF AGE

Super Insulated Homes Inc.

Is a third generation construction firm uniquely qualified to produce a quality constructed, tightly built custom home, incorporating the latest technology in thermal dynamics and indoor air quality. These low energy requirement homes have been built throughout Sweden, Canada and the Northern United States and usually require less than $100.00 per year in electric heat. To achieve high performance, comfort and safety.

SUPER INSULATED HOMES HAVE THREE KEY ELEMENTS:

1. Higher levels of insulation and double wall construction techniques that avoid thermal bridging: compare insulation levels - walls R45 vs R11, ceilings R60 vs. R19, floors R27 vs. R10.
2. An airtight continuously installed air vapor barrier.
3. A ventilation system that features a properly sized and installed air-to-air heat exchanger. According to leading experts, including the Harvard School of Public Health, there is no healthier environment than a home with a properly sized and installed ventilation system and a continuous vapor barrier.

SUPER INSULATION may be applied to nearly any size, style, shape and orientation of houses. Either in new construction or retrofitting existing energy monsters.

Grayling Wins Twice In 'Brain Strain' Event

BY ERIN HICKEY

Seven Grayling High School students competed in the annual Academic Festival at Elk Rapids High School on April 18. Called Brain Strain, it is an academic competition Grayling has participated in for two years, which requires significant knowledge of the subject matter, fast thinking, and quick reflexes from all contestants.

Similar to the College Bowl of the past, each Brain Strain category consists of several questions to be answered by the first team to hit its "buzzer". The team with the most points at the end of the match wins.

This year, Grayling did quite well, although most schools had 15 to 20 contestants to Grayling's seven. The competitors were: freshmen Donn Broeker and Jeff Haas, sophomore Julie Huss, juniors Chris Helton, Erin Hickey, and Allen Morford, and senior Cris McLaughlin, who were sponsored and coached by GHS expert brainstrainer Tom Mills.

In the social studies competition, Broeker, Helton, Hickey, Huss, and Morford lost to host team Elk Rapids by a respectable score of 180 to 230. In science, Haas, Helton, Hickey, Huss, and McLaughlin came back to win 210 to 145 against Suttons Bay.

Broeker, Hickey, Huss, McLaughlin, and Morford were defeated by a very strong Traverse City St. Francis team 90 to 320 in the English category. Grayling ended the day with Broeker, Haas, Helton, Huss, and McLaughlin winning 250 to 110 in the mathematics division.

Competitions such as these "are great," says Morford. "It gives you the opportunity to compete while exercising your mind instead of your body, which I personally think is a lot more fun."

Editor's Mailbox

Mr. Howard Madsen
Editor
Crawford Co. Avalanche
Dear Whitey,
The Michigan Natural Resources Commission has recommended imposing mandatory catch and release fishing regulations, the so-called "no-kill" laws. The regulation would apply to the main stream of the AuSable River from Burtons Landing to Wakeley Bridge. I am opposed to this proposal.

The stated purpose behind the proposal is to increase the number of large trout - particularly the brown trout - in the river. That population has indeed decreased. But various studies cite natural environmental factors for this decrease and not the irresponsibility of fishers. In fact, 70% of the trout currently caught on the main stream are voluntarily released by fishermen. Thus, although the brown trout population has declined, the brook and rainbow trout population has actually increased. It has yet to be shown that mandatory catch and release laws will guarantee a significant increase in the brown trout population. The fish biologist from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources did not recommend no-kill laws as a means to achieve this end.

For these reasons, I support the efforts of the Committee to Oppose Catch and Release to obtain an injunction forbidding the "no-kill" proposal.

With 59% of the people of Michigan opposed to mandatory catch and release regulations, and fishermen already voluntarily releasing 70% of the trout they catch, there is no need for government to fix something that isn't broken.

With warm regards,

Sincerely,
Bill Schuette
Member of Congress

Glen Shephard, Editor
The North Woods Call
Charlevoix, Mi. 49720

Dear Glen:

The last issue of the Call states that I, had called Dr. Robert Behnke, or tried to, in an effort to influence his testimony at a hearing on the No-Kill rules on the AuSable River.

Dr. Behnke summarizes Trout Research results from most of North America, and has few Equals, and no Peers. The most valuable articles on Trout Unlimited's Magazine "Trout" is Dr. Behnke's. We have been friends for several years, and see each other annually.

While I did not hear his testimony, it would be confirmed by reports he and others have made. Much from Michigan Scientists.

An attempt by me to direct Dr. Behnke's testimony would be unheard of. Comparable to handing the Judge one hundred dollars to influence him.

I have just received a seventeen page copy of his report on the No-Kill issue. I cannot fault it.

Yes, I did have a phone call asking me to phone Dr. Behnke.

This does not mean that I as a person oppose No-Kill - but not for the reasons Dr. Behnke was asked to report on.

With kind regards,
George A. Griffith
Rt. 2 Box 2457
Grayling, Mi. 49738

To The Editor,

This letter was sent to the letters to the Editor of the Detroit Free Press but they seem to be reluctant to put it in the paper, it must have hit the nail on the head.

Opre you sound like a poor loser, or a spoiled kid that always wants his way. You have to start damming people just because you did not get your way. Are you saying that Judge Davis used the bench for his own purpose of gaining votes in the next election. That is quite an accusation. Maybe he used the bench the way you use your column in the paper to get things your way, but I doubt it very much that he did. I understand that you hooked a nice big trout while fishing but no one saw you release it, how was it? Good?

You sound like a person that preaches that old saying, don't do as I do but do as I say. Why don't you quit crying about your loss and accept it like a man. This is not the end, it is just temporary.

I was there the day of the hearing and in my opinion Judge Davis ruled the way anybody with any sense would have ruled, the State did not prove a thing on there being more or better fish. I understand one of your friends was appointed to the N.R.C. and that's why that was imposed, why don't you write about that or do you think that would cast a cloud on your friend, like you are trying to do to other people.

I live on the river and the fisherman that come by my place seem to feel that if you want to keep them you should be able to or throw them back if it is your desire.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

by Wendell L. Hoover
Park Interpreter

It won't be all that long before we will start to see butterflies. One of the most common is the Monarch. It has been discovered that a banded Monarch traveled forty-three miles in one day and another traveled 1.870 miles in 129 days, which averages out to a little less than 15 miles per day. That flight started in Ontario on September 18, 1957 and ended in Central Mexico on January 25, 1958.

Monarchs are the only butterflies that migrate and some of those from Michigan may migrate all the way to California, but it is known that most spend the winter in Mexico. Monarchs have colonized England, Hawaii, New Zealand and Australia. At one time they were even found in Japan, but have since disappeared there.

Most Monarch butterflies are poisonous to birds since they feed upon milkweeds, but there the story gets interesting. The milkweeds of the northern range do not contain the poisons common to those found in the southern states. Most of the banding of Monarchs used to be done in the north. The bands which are used are pea-sized labels that stick to one wing. The labels do not hinder flight, but in Florida the birds were seen eating only those Monarchs with the labels on their wings. The birds had learned to recognize those particular Monarchs as tasty northern morsels.

Herbal Corner

Two summers ago we had a chipmunk who thought himself a humorous person. We did not have the garage then so the south wall outside the store was empty except for some firewood. Sometimes a few of our elderly customers would use their walkers when coming into the store. Well, darlin', Chips, in his devilish moods, would wait until these ladies had their walkers and feet planted at the right distance apart and facing north before he would fairly saunter between their legs and go under the porch. And if these same shocked ladies stood long enough with their little faint squeals, Chips would saunter back. Many a time I prayed for these ladies to have healthy hearts.

This year there is a garage south of the store, but Chips is still around. So if you see a little chipmunk up in his flower box on the porch watching the scenery while munching on his snacks, just wave and speak softly. He respects our territory and we respect his.

I planted Tansy by the door of the store to ward off flies, which it does do. But these mosquitos this year are nearly big enough to light on either shoulder and carry a body off. That Tansy may not be able to handle all of the flying vermin, but Laurie Kinney came up with a recipe that does seem to work. Mix equal parts of Citronella Oil, Pennyroyal Oil, and Eucalyptus Oil; use a small amount on clothing covering the body. If you wish, you can cut the odor with other fragrant oils. I put three spots on my hat, and my face usually stays free of insects.

Dearhearts, the Milltown Festival Committee could use a few extra hands and suggestions for special events this year. If there is something you wish to do or see that has not taken place before, please call the Chamber of Commerce. Any suggestions are welcomed, and be nice.

Herbally yours,
E. Diona Cerelli, C.H.

Drinking Decaf: How Safe Is It?

Call Edwards
Extension Home Economist

Decaffeinated coffee has been on the market for several years now. But some people still worry about the possible health risks associated with the decaffeination process.

A common process involves the use of a chemical called methylene chloride. This chemical, a popular industrial solvent, is a chlorinated hydrocarbon that is chemically related to other demonstrated cancer-producing agents. Some hairsprays contain methylene chloride which has caused cancer in animals when inhaled.

According to Mark Uebersax, associate professor of food science and human nutrition at Michigan State University, the use of methylene chloride in the decaffeination process is safe.

Inhalation of methylene chloride and using it in decaffeination are two different things, Uebersax says. Inhalation of methylene is a direct exposure. In the decaffeination process, methylene chloride removes caffeine, but doesn't remain in the finished coffee product. The low methylene chloride residues left from the decaffeination process are virtually insignificant, Uebersax says.

According to the Food and Drug Administration, the decaffeination process leaves residues below .1 part per million (ppm), far less than the permitted level of 10 ppm. The FDA says such low residual levels have a risk of less than one cancer per million people over a lifetime of consumption, or virtually no risk to the public health.

Uebersax says a company's first concern is the safety of its product. Though the methylene chloride decaffeination process is essentially safe, many companies are putting consumers at ease by using the water process to decaffeinate coffee, even though it's not any safer. A disadvantage of the water process is that it removes more of the flavor compounds in coffee than the methylene chloride process.

The concept of food safety, as viewed by both scientists and government regulators, includes a constant comparison of tasks and benefits. One must weigh the risks against the benefits when considering whether to consume or use something that may be harmful to health. It should be clear, however, that zero risk or absolute safety in any area, including food, is unattainable.

"I'm convinced in food and diet-related areas that variety and moderation in food intake is most important," Uebersax says. For people who are concerned about their health and are also confused and bombarded with a constant flow of new and updated information about food products and chemicals they come in contact with, variety and moderation are probably the best guidelines available.

Vikings Win Opener 4 - 3 In District Tournament

Grayling rode the four-hit pitching of freshman Chris Skidmore to a 4-3 pre-district win over Rogers City last Wednesday at Rogers City.

Skidmore didn't give up an earned run as the Vikings used a two-RBI single by John Kinnee to win in extra innings.

With the score tied 2-2 in the top of the eighth, John Meagher and Jeff Palmer singled. George Duncan walked, setting the table for Kinnee's big blow.

An error let one run for Rogers City in the bottom of the eighth. But with runners on first and third, Skidmore got the last batter to bounce to the shortstop and Grayling advanced in state tournament play.

Grayling meets Lincoln-Alcona there at 4 p.m. Friday in a pre-district game. The winner returns to Grayling the following Friday for a district game.

In the big win at Rogers, two Grayling errors accounted for Rogers City runs in the first and third. Skidmore only gave up one hit in each of the first three innings and then he shut down the opposition for four straight innings not allowing a single hit.

Grayling was held hitless until the sixth inning when Duncan connected for a two-run home run. He drove in Meagher who had reached base on an error. Duncan's home run gave the Vikings a 2-2 tie and kept them alive until the eighth.

Prior to the tournament game, Grayling extended its win streak to five with a first-game 14-8 win over Charlevoix.

Kinnee led the hitting with a three-run home run and an RBI single. Connecting for two hits and two RBIs were Duncan and Scott Bly, the winning pitcher. Jim Knight, Meagher, and David Myers also contributed two hits each.

In the second game, Charlevoix broke the Viking winning streak with a 2-1 win. Palmer pitched well in the loss. Joe Erb drove in Grayling's only run.

Last Saturday, Grayling ran into a pair of fine pitchers from Sault Ste. Marie and lost a doubleheader 7-2 and 11-1.

Jim Knight hit a two-run home run in the seventh inning to break up a shut-out in the first game. Flaskie Robins scored Grayling's only run in the second on a walk, two passed balls, an and ground out.

Foster Homes Needed Here

Foster homes are needed for children and teens in Northeastern Michigan. Demand for substitute parents has been high in recent months and not enough homes are available. One reason that so many children need temporary care is because more cases of child abuse and child sexual abuse have been reported to authorities due to increased public awareness. In other cases children are placed outside their homes because they have been difficult for their parents to handle. Often good home rules and guidance were not available.

Child and Family Services of Northeast Michigan is recruiting new families throughout its nine-county region, which includes Alcona, Alpena, Iosco, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Otsego, Crawford, Oscoda and Presque Isle counties.

The Northeast Michigan child welfare agency will help parents with the licensing process, provide training and financial support, and will work with the family to best help each child or teen.

Families interested in volunteering are encouraged to call the Alpena office for application materials at 356-4567, and ask for Joyce. Long distance callers can call collect.

Responsible Selfless Vigorous People

That's how I look upon this group of volunteers. Everytime I visit the office, someone is bustling about, doing something. Always smiling and caught up in planning something new.

Have talked to so many volunteers, since I joined 3 years ago and the same response from all. "Best thing I ever did". "Love getting out and meeting people." "Feel so good about helping others."

These are my sentiments exactly. One thing I could add: "I feel younger". "Ask not what the people can do for you, but what you can do for other people."

And to the young adults for their caring with the elderly.

Prayers and good health to our seniors in the hospital. Pastor Mike Allen was our guest, and exchanged with Pastor Taylor at his Church. Pastor Mike Allen is also the director at Forest Haven Camp. Receives Message Back

How many readers of this paper have ever considered throwing a bottle which contained a message into a body of water to wait for a reply? Jeanne Hayes, at age eleven, not only considered it, she did it and it worked.

On April 13, 1985 she set afloat a two liter plastic bottle which contained a self-addressed, stamped postcard into the Mississippi River at a location called Cottonwood Point, Missouri. On April 23, 1986 it was found by Loya Cole of Blytheville, Arkansas. After finding the bottle at a point on the river known as Hickman's Bend, Loya returned the card and commented that she still had the dollar bill which was also included in the bottle.

To Jeanne's surprise, the bottle had only traveled approximately twenty miles during that year and ten days. The bottle had obviously been caught in eddies and snagged on limbs until the rising and lowering of the river had set it free.

Putting the bottle afloat was video taped with such details as showing a map and pinpointing Cottonwood Point, reading the questions on the card before placing it in the bottle and stating the serial number of the dollar bill.

Maybe Jeanne will do it again someday. Perhaps Jeanne will visit Loya Cole and together they will set afloat a new bottle with another dollar bill in it. If you travel down the Mississippi River or sail in the Gulf of Mexico, keep your eyes open for a plastic two liter bottle.

IN MEMORIAM

Anthony Tosto in loving memory of our father who passed away two years ago May 26th.

It's been two years Daddy since you've been called away. We can still feel the pain as if it were yesterday. The memories we cling to, loving thoughts of you, when we're sad and lonely, your memories see us through. We may not see you Daddy, but we know you walk by our side. Whatever lies ahead for us, you'll be our constant guide. Someday we'll be together again, and we'll know that gentle touch. When our life on earth is over, and God has called us home, we know you will be there to greet us, and we won't be afraid or alone.

Sadly missed by daughters, Barbara & Shirley.

Many times over the past months I have written about how difficult it is to bring the community together to work towards a common goal. But over the past two years the one project that has received almost total community support and effort has been the depot project, and it is time that all those responsible should stand up and take a bow. Our thanks go out to all of you who worked so hard and gave of yourselves to make Grayling and Crawford County a better place to live. Here is a list of just a few of those people and organizations.

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners, Mary Harland, Chairperson; The City of Grayling, Jerry Morford; The Department of Corrections, Duane Corey; The Grayling Rotary, Randy Thompson; The Crawford AuSable Schools, Kent Reynolds; The Crawford County Historical Society, R.J. Richard Schmidt; The Grayling State Bank, Jack Alef; Robert Weiman; Jim Adams Photography; Jack Millikin, Inc.; Vidian Roe; Terry Dickinson and many, many more. Thank you very much.

Memorial Day is more than historical figures carved on mountains of stone. It is the memory of a nation with love's sacrifices etched in its soul.

It is a day that reminds us we are part of a nation and system which declares that all persons are free: Free to speak, to believe, even not to believe.

From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli;
from Bunker Hill to Kings Mountain;
from Bull Run to Gettysburg;
from Pearl Harbor to Iwo Jima;
from Seoul to Heart-Break Ridge, on to Saigon, our grandfathers, fathers, brothers, sisters, sons and daughters have fought, shed crimson blood, and died that this nation and its system of freedom, its promise of liberty, shall not pass from the land.

But Memorial Day is more than laying flowers on graves of the war dead and loved ones who died without intrusion of wars' horrors. It is growing within our souls the living flowers of life's loves, liberties, freedoms and achievements so that all peoples shall know the beauty of life lived in peace.

The graves on which we lay flowers, the monuments we lean flowers against, are the soil that will enable the flowers of our lives to grow as we REMEMBER!

Pictures Have A Multiple Purpose In Long-Term Care

Pictures in a long-term care setting can serve a number of purposes. They can assist in way-finding, as in "Your room is opposite the picture of the cat." They can contribute to the aesthetics of the environment and can be a focus for conversation and reminiscence. To serve these functions for the mentally impaired, however, the pictures must be unambiguous, easy to comprehend, realistic (as of a local landmark or a scene common to the area can evoke comments or produce reminiscence; an impressionistic painting of the seasons may be aesthetically pleasing but may have little or no meaning to the residents.

The presence of large posters with pictures of food in the dining room reinforces the residents association between this room and eating. A photograph of a train on the wall opposite the door of a resident who used to work on the railroad would enable him to find his room when staff members remind him it is near the picture of the locomotive. Residents who could never find the water fountain when staff members say, "It's right down the corridor," may find it easy to locate when they are told to look for the picture of the sailing ship which hangs over it.

On a whim, staff members in one nursing home put a picture of a cat sitting on an afghan on a rocking chair in one of the ladies' washrooms. It has had some surprising results. The women are more willing to wait in line in the washroom to have their teeth brushed. Prior to this they used to wander off while waiting. A few of the ladies are now able to distinguish between that washroom and others on the unit.

Milltown Theme Addressed At GPA May 27th Meeting

The Grayling Promotional Association is issuing an open invitation to all interested persons to attend their May 27th meeting at noon at the Chief Shoppenagon Hotel. Guest speakers at this meeting will be Terry Wright, Director of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce, and Terry Dickinson, resident artist and craftsman.

Terry Wright will be telling the group what the chamber has planned for the coming season and the rest of 1986, and how GPA (as well as other organizations) can help in promoting these plans and the entire community.

Terry Dickinson will present a slide presentation which will reveal the rich and varied Victorian architectural heritage of downtown Grayling. This will demonstrate a historically honest approach to define the "Milltown Theme". Dickinson states that from an artistic perspective there is a need to create a visual cohesiveness to the downtown area. This includes building facades, signs, sidewalks, streets, lighting, benches, and trash containers.

Grayling High School To Sponsor Senior Honors Night May 29

Grayling High School will host its 3rd annual Senior Honors Night on Thursday evening, May 29th, at 7:30 p.m. in the High School, Joseph Stripe Auditorium.

The program is being sponsored in the evening, to give the parents, relatives, friends and community the opportunity to share in the honors being bestowed upon our seniors. It is felt that this is only fitting, because you deserve much of the credit for this achievement. The quality of family life, support and concern you have provided, have contributed significantly towards the academic achievement and honors that these seniors will receive.

A large portion of the 1986 graduating class will be recognized for their academic achievements through state and local college scholarships, top athletic and citizenship awards, and a number of other categories. Eight seniors will be receiving The President's Academic Fitness Award, which is based on scholarship, test scores, and a prescribed academic program achievement.
